

TEMPERANCE DAY

Was Appropriately Observed in Many Wheeling Churches

"THE TRUE TEMPERANCE MAN"

WAS THE THEME OF REV. C. M. OLIPHANT'S DISCOURSE AT THE FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH SUNDAY EVENING—OTHER PULPITS DENOUNCE THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN ACCORDANCE WITH REQUESTS OF W. C. T. U.

"Temperance Day" was duly observed in many Wheeling churches yesterday, mostly at the evening services. Each year a Sunday is set apart for discussions of the benefits of temperance, in line with the requests of the W. C. T. U. and other temperance organizations, and the International Sunday School lesson for yesterday was chosen for its appropriateness in this connection. In conjunction with the W. C. T. U., the Christian Endeavor, the Epworth League and other auxiliaries of the churches rendered specially prepared temperance programmes.

The Methodist Episcopal churches all gave the subject considerable attention last night. One of the most thoughtful discourses of the day was delivered at the First Christian church last night, by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Oliphant. It was entitled "The True Temperance Man," and a synopsis of it is as follows:

The saloon is arrayed against the church. As a minister, I am unalterably opposed to anything that is against the church and her influence for good. As a Christian I should speak and work for the downfall of the saloon with all its evils and for the uplifting of the church with all her manifold influences for righteousness and temperance.

The true temperance man sees the evils of intemperance. That these evils are many no one can deny.

1.—Much needless expense of national, state and municipal government is caused by intemperance. It is responsible for nearly all crime. Crime committed must be punished. This involves expense. The idea that the existence of saloons in a city is needful to pay certain expenses to many is plausible, yet we forget that in the absence of these saloons, the expense would also be absent. It can be easily demonstrated that the money required to keep the saloons and pay the expenses accruing therefrom, could be turned into other trade channels that would minister to the economic and moral welfare of any city. Financially speaking, the saloon advocates use very poor logic. Intemperance is largely responsible for the necessity of asylums and charitable institutions.

2.—Extravagance on the part of the drinkers is another evil. Strikers spend more money for drink when on a strike, than they gain by the advance in wages. Laborers spend for drink money which ought to be used in life insurance or in other ways that look to the protection of their families in the future. Rich people, who claim the privilege of doing as they please, are often reduced to poverty through the drink habit. Men endowed with useful gifts, become useless through the baneful influence of the cup. Then such evils here only mentioned are very common.

The true temperance man also will see his duty. This duty is threefold.

1.—Total abstinence from all intoxicants. One says, Paul advised Timothy to take a little wine for his stomach's sake. Do you take it for your stomach's sake? Wine in Paul's time was a common beverage in the unfettered state. Hence was not always an intoxicant. Intoxicating wine is never connected with the Divine blessing. We should drink only to the glory of God.

2.—Moderate drink is responsible for excessive drinking. Excessive drinkers were first moderate drinkers. Some propose to quit drinking by degrees. Webb, the great English walker, drank nothing but water. He was one day urging a friend, who drank wine and other intoxicants, to quit a course of luxury by his health and intellect would be destroyed. The gentleman appeared convinced and told him that he would conform to his counsel, but he must leave off drinking liquids by degrees. "By degrees!" said Webb: "If you should unhappily fall into the fire would you caution your servants to pull you out only by degrees?"

Many say that their liberties would be destroyed by total abstinence. If drinking injures you, you should not desire its liberty. Civil and divine laws only allow us the liberty of doing that which will be beneficial and not the license to injure ourselves and others.

3.—The personal duty of self control is very appropriate in this connection. This means a total abstinence from everything harmful and the proper use of all that is harmless. Daniel abstained from the use of the king's wine because it was harmful. He had the courage to control himself by abstaining. He arose above his surroundings. He was not deceived by the fallacy that when in Rome you should do as Rome does. He was governed by a higher principle—that of right. His religion was portable. Let him be taken among even the people of Babylon. He took with him his convictions of right and duty. How different from many young men to-day who at home are temperate and away from home are intemperate, and whose religion will not stand transportation!

Relative duty to others.

1.—We should not be partakers of others' men's sins. (1.) Covering up the faults of these drinkers, even to giving them encouragement to continue, is an example of this. Many wives are guilty of this sin. Their husbands take advantage of the mistaken kindness. (2.) Saloon keepers are often encouraged in their evil business. Men and boys who themselves do not drink, spend much time in saloons to hear the music and see what is doing on. (3.) Young women tolerate the drink habit among young men by encouraging their attentions. The young women hold the key to the situation. If young men were required to choose between the saloon and the company of respectable young women, they would choose the latter. More firmness on the part of young women would do away with much drinking.

2.—Moral suasion is needful. The work of John B. Gough and Francis Murphy has been a mighty influence in the world for temperance. Demonic, social and religious influences all combined must speak in unmistakable terms on this great question.

3.—These relative duties include our relations to each other as to methods of work. Too often a man is counted an enemy to the cause of temperance because he has a different method from some one else or because he is not pledged to the method that is dear to someone else. Devotion to a method and devotion to the cause of temperance may be two different things. A few years ago I lived in a village where we voted the saloons out. A few people there who had talked loud on the subject of temperance, voted to retain the saloons, simply because the method of abolishing the saloon did not suit them. The method was more important to them than the cause. This spirit will never abolish the saloon from our land. We should count all the friends of temperance, who in their daily lives perform personal duties and who perform their relative duties in striving to keep the cup from their neighbor's lips, even though their plan may be different. Their plan may be as practical as yours. Christ did not condemn the man who cast out devils in His name, when he learned that he did not happen to follow with John, but said "He that is not against us is on our part."

The true temperance man will also see and do his civil duties. These duties are relative, but I wish to emphasize their importance. A good Christian is a good citizen. And a good citizen is willing and anxious to have a legislation that will do away with all evil, as far as legislation has to do with abolishing evil.

1.—Discreet use of influence that our laws may be executed against all violations of the law that pertains to temperance. Open saloons (back doors open) on the Lord's day, show the necessity of all Christian citizens seeing to it that the law is enforced. Every man be he mayor or policeman, violates his sacred official oath, when he permits the law to be violated. We, as citizens, should see to it that no man fills an office who permits such violation.

2.—The laws already on the statutes, if enforced, would make the saloon business unprofitable. Selling to minors and habitual drunkards is an example of law violation. Do not allow the saloon keeper to sell to either of these classes and you take from his business its largest profit. Lack of enforcement of law makes the saloons so numerous.

3.—Wherein laws are defective make new ones. The complete prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating drinks is the end to be sought and nothing short of this will answer. To accomplish this, all temperance forces must be united. The home, society, the church, good citizenship that means something, both for making laws and enforcing laws. All these, with other forces that might be named, combined against the common enemy, and with the help of the Almighty, we can march to victory and our land can be and will be freed from its darkest stain.

At the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Walter H. Rinehart was the principal speaker at the Y. M. C. A. Men's meeting yesterday afternoon. Mr. Rinehart spoke on "The Devil and his Temptations." He was followed by Mr. C. S. Morrison assisted by others. The Y. M. C. A.'s orchestra assisted in the musical features of the exercises.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED

Against Chesapeake and Ohio Road in Regard to Rates for Coal and Coke.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 27.—The charges against the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad of alleged discrimination in freight rates of coal and coke shipped by operators in this section of the state will come up before the inter-state commerce commission in Washington tomorrow.

It will be a bitter fight as both sides have eminent counsel to present their contention in the case. C. C. Blake, of Cincinnati, and the coal operators claim that the Chesapeake & Ohio Fuel Company is composed of the officers of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, and being identified with the railroad it could dictate its own freight rates. Compellers were driven to sell their coal to the Chesapeake & Ohio or go out of business.

The following operators left here last night for Washington to be present at the investigation before the inter-state commerce commission tomorrow: Enoch Carver, M. T. Davis and Neil Robinson.

SENATOR FAULKNER ENTERTAINS

The Members of the Canadian-American Commission at Home, Near Marlinsburg.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 27.—Senator and Mrs. C. J. Faulkner entertained the members of the Canadian-American commission, of which he is a member, at their palatial residence, "Boydville." The following distinguished ladies and gentlemen were present: The Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfred Laurier and Lady Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright and Miss Cartwright; Sir Louis Davies and Lady Davies; Sir James Wintell, Hon. John Charlton and Mrs. Charlton, Senator and Mrs. Fairbanks, Representative Dingley, Mrs. Dingley, and Miss Dingley; Hon. John W. Foster, Dr. T. DeW. Talmage and Mrs. Talmage, Hon. Joseph Pope and Mrs. Pope, Miss Scott, Mr. Henri Boulle, Mr. Chauncey Cartwright, W. C. P. Anderson, Mr. O'Hara, Mr. Williamson, Mr. Hoot and T. J. Coole.

The commission was accompanied from Washington by Senator Faulkner, arriving here at 1:23, carriages being in waiting at the station. They were received by Mrs. C. J. Faulkner and her two daughters, Miss Sallie and Miss Jane Faulkner. The house was beautifully decorated, the front door and porch being draped with American flags and the halls decorated with the flags of Great Britain. The dining and parlor were artistically decorated with potted plants and chrysanthemums. Promptly at three o'clock the guests were shown into the dining room, and were made the recipients of an old-time Virginia dinner; the table was decorated with chrysanthemums. The evening was spent in old Virginia fashion, and the guests left at 8 o'clock p. m.

Devastating Prairie Fires.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 27.—A special to the Republic from Perry, Okla., says: Prairie fires have played havoc in Oklahoma and the Indian Territory for the last few days. One farmer lost 1,000 acres of fine hay in the field, several hundred bales of cotton and 500 head of cattle and hogs. He estimates his loss at $20,000. Millions of tons of hay in bales and bulk have been burned to other sections, and no less than 100 residences have been destroyed. Several lives have been lost in the prairie fires. In the Kiowa Indian reservation, a strip of land thirty by seventy-five miles, was burned, causing great damage. These fires have been more destructive, owing to the high winds.

Murder on the Steamer Ben Hur.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 27.—Theodore Pryor is in jail, charged with the murder of Thomas Kelso. Both men were employed as deckhands on the Parkersburg packet, Ben Hur. It is said that to-day, while the boat was lying at the East Liverpool wharf, Pryor, without warning, and apparently without provocation, hit Kelso a terrific blow on the back of the head with a block of wood, killing him almost instantly.

Minister Straus' Success.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27.—The energetic action of Oscar S. Straus, the United States minister, has obtained a concession which the united powers had been for eighteen months vainly endeavoring to secure, namely, the granting of traveling permits to foreigners in the interior of Asia Minor. The immediate incentive to the action of Mr. Straus was the Porte's refusal of permits to American missionaries.

EASTERN OHIO TEACHERS

Closed a two days' Meeting on Saturday at Belleaire—Most Largely Attended of Twenty-eight Conventions—The Proceedings of the Sessions of Saturday.

The Eastern Ohio Teachers' Association closed its two days' session at Belleaire Saturday afternoon. There was a larger attendance than at any one of the previous twenty-eight conventions, there being between 400 and 500 teachers present. The sessions were all well attended, and none of the churches was large enough to accommodate all who desired to attend. The disappointment over the failure of Dr. Bashford, of Delaware, to give the lecture announced was keenly felt, and more surprise was occasioned Saturday, when he wired he had no excuse to offer; simply forgot entirely the engagement; but would lecture next year free of charge, if the association would trust him once more.

Prof. Duncan, of Bridgeport, tied over this break in the programme by announcing that they would continue the discussion as to what legislation would improve the district schools, and introduced Superintendent R. E. Raymond, of East Liverpool, who said that too much legislation was dangerous, and that the legislation which was now being considered should be permissive to mandatory; that district schools should have supervision, and that legislation should be mandatory to that effect.

Hon. C. J. Howard, of Barnesville, was called for, and heartily cheered, and made a very spirited talk.

Superintendent H. S. Williams was greeted with applause. Among many of the thoughts which he left with the audience were: That the condition of educational legislation in Ohio was largely due to inaction on the part of the teacher, and urged concerted action; that the great need of Ohio was a pedagogical school, wherein the teacher might receive the proper training; that libraries might be established in every district, thus bringing literature to the homes of every boy and girl.

Dr. O. W. Holmes was called, to give the minister's view of legislation for schools. He expressed surprise that there was legislation in the interest of the schools not recognizing statutory provisions as the thing that built up education.

Hon. D. D. Taylor, of Cambridge, made some witty remarks.

The president here appointed a committee on resolutions, consisting of Supt. H. N. Merz, Supt. L. E. Bocher and Miss Mary Stone.

President Duncan then announced the subject of "Child Study" in a humorous manner. Mr. Whitaker, of Steubenville, made a short talk along that line.

Supt. O. A. Cronabaugh was called to make some remarks. He stated that he objected to sparring for wind, and thought there was another side to the teachers' side to legislation. He thought that supplementary reading, while good, could be overdone, and that one poorly read, and cited Lincoln as an instance where there were four books well mastered.

The last session was opened with music by the Union choir, under the direction of Prof. John Liller, superintendent of music of the public schools.

The programme was especially interesting. The first two numbers were omitted, owing to the absence of Dr. John McBurney and Prof. Martin R. Andrews. Prof. Andrews sent a letter to the association, which was read. He stated twenty-one years ago he had sent a letter in the association at Belleaire defending and advocating the high school, and noted with pleasure the growth of the high school throughout the state. He also lamented that he was unable to attend. A resolution thanking Professor Andrews was passed and sent to him.

Supt. R. E. Rayman moved that the Eastern Ohio Teachers' Association send greetings to the Northwestern Ohio Teachers' Association, in convention at Tiffin, which was unanimously adopted.

Hon. D. D. Taylor, of the Guernsey Times, was then introduced, and made one of his characteristic talks. Many were the good thoughts which he left with the teachers.

Prof. D. W. Matlock was introduced; he was thankful that he was a survivor, and feelingly referred to the past.

Committee on nomination of officers for the ensuing year made the following report:

President—Supt. H. G. Williams, of Marietta.

Vice President—Miss Florence Updegraff, of East Liverpool.

Secretary—Miss Mary A. Stone, of Cambridge.

Treasurer—Arthur Reynolds, of Martin's Ferry.

Executive committee—Supt. H. N. Merz, of Steubenville; Supt. S. K. Maritz, of Uhrichsville, and Supt. H. V. Merrick, of Cadiz.

The committee on place of meeting next year reported the twin cities of Uhrichsville and Dennison. Hon. D. D. Taylor gave notice that an invitation from Cambridge would be there next year. The report of the committee was then adopted.

Supt. R. E. Rayman offered a resolution recommending that the meeting of the Ohio state association be held in Columbus, which was unanimously adopted.

The chairman of the executive committee made a report showing receipts of $125.40; disbursements, $36.55.

A resolution was then passed recommending that a celebrated lecturer be hereafter elected to address the association.

The Union choir rendered a beautiful selection, and the convention took ten minutes recess.

In the absence of Supt. W. H. Van Tassen Supt. J. M. Carr made an elaborate and exhaustive review of the report of the committee of twelve on rural schools.

"Defects of the Truant Law" was omitted, owing to the absence of Supt. J. T. Fenton, and "The Importance of Reading" was discussed by Miss Julia Faupel in a splendid paper.

Prof. L. W. P. Stiehl, supervisor of writing in the Uhrichsville schools, in the absence of Supt. E. M. Van Cleave, ably discussed vertical writing, showing its advantages over the old slant system. The general discussion was opened and closed by Prof. T. R. McGinnis, of Martin's Ferry, who contended for the old.

The usual resolutions thanking the executive committee, the teachers and public of Belleaire for their kind entertainment were adopted.

The association then closed by singing "America."

SINGULAR STATEMENT

From Mrs. Rank to Mrs. Pinkham

The following letter to Mrs. Pinkham from Mrs. M. RANK, No. 234 East Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., is a remarkable statement of relief from utter discouragement. She says:

"I never can find words with which to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.

"Some years ago I had womb trouble and doctored for a long time, not seeing any improvement. At times I would feel well enough, and other times was miserable. So it went on until last October, I felt something terrible creeping over me, I knew not what, but kept getting worse. I can hardly explain my feelings at that time. I was so depressed in spirits that I did not wish to live, although I had everything to live for. Had hysteria, was very nervous; could not sleep and was not safe to be left alone.

"Indeed, I thought I would lose my mind. No one knows what I endured. "I continued this way until the last of February, when I saw in a paper a testimonial of a lady whose case was similar to mine, and who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I determined to try it, and felt better after the first dose. I continued taking it, and to-day am a well woman, and can say from my heart, 'Thank God for such a medicine.'"

Mrs. Pinkham invites all suffering women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice. "All such letters are seen and answered by women only."
